Recommendations On Research Work

Ottawa, March 29.—Warning to the National Research Council that in extending its standardization and allied activities there was risk of its scientific research programme becoming subordinated was expressed yesterday by a committee appointed to review the council's activities.

The committee considered extension of the council's standardization and allied activities necessary and desirable, but it was pointed out that ex-cessed attention be given to the programme of scientific research as soon as financial conditions permit of the employment of additional staff. (b) consideration be given at an early date to the segregation of standardization and testing work into a separate division of the council's laboratories, and (c) in developing its research programme, the problems of Canadian science be viewed in their broadest aspects and emphasis placed first on the development of natural resources and, secondly, on pure science.

AUTO WRECKED BY TIME BOMB

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., March 29.—A time bomb yesterday wrecked the automabile of Miss Mary Valentine, daughter of Judge W. A. Valentine, who recently sent twenty-nine union officials and members to jail on conspiracy charges.

The bomb exploded half an hour after Miss Valentine had parked the car in front of the Miners' National Bank, in the heart of the city. She was shopping in a nearby store when the blast occurred.

DOUBTS TALKS BEST COURSE

Cecil Suspicious of Such Conversations as British-
German at Berlin

Canadian Press from Havre
London, March 29.—Private diplomatic exchanges, such as the Anglo-German talks in Berlin, have been branded methods of doubtful utility by Viscount Cecil of Chelwood, the head of the League of Nations Union and former Lord Privy Seal expressed deep anxiety over the turn of events in Europe.

VERNON POLICE VOTE DELAYED

Vernon, B.C., March 29.—There will be no plebiscite taken on Vernon's police question until the next election in January, 1936, according to the decision reached by the city council.

This decision followed consideration of the petition recently circulated by the Vernon and District Property Owners' Association, asking for a plebiscite by which people of this city might signify whether they wish continuation of the reorganized city police force, or the taking over of the city by the provincial police.

Vernon's tax rate during the forthcoming year will be the same as that of last year, 40 mills.

Hugh S. Johnson
Publishes Book

Associated Press
New York, March 29.—Brig-Gen.
Hugh S. Johnson, in his new book published to-day, calls for a revised NRA to speed recovery.

"Nothing can stop a country of boundless resources and 125,000,000
united and able vigorous people within one tariff wall," he writes.

"It is just a question of whether we shall have to sit helplessly or act unwisely and so wait for months or years of disaster, or whether we shall move with vigor and good economic energy and cut the waiting time to half or a third or even a smaller fraction."

"September Morn"
Still Is in Paris

Associated Press
Paris, March 29.—Paul Chabas, creator of the famous nude, "September Morn" learned to-day the original work, now in Paris, never had been to the United States.

The painting, recently found in the Paris home of C. S. Gubbenkin, wealthy American oil man, created quite a disturbance in the United States many years ago through published reproductions.

It disappeared during the Russian Revolution. M. Chabas now finds it never left the hands of Leo Mont-cheff, to whom he sold it in 1912, until Montcheff sold it a year ago to the oil man.

RESCUE IN TORONTO
Toronto, March 29 (Canadian Press).—Hanging from the eavestrough of the Home Rescue Mission, some thirty-five feet above the ground, Miss McGowan was rescued yesterday by John McGowan when he held her until firemen arrived with ladders. McGowan climbed on the roof and held her arms until the firemen came.

TOPPING MACHINE

The lady boy's dream has come true—an automatic tree shiner.
The device was invented to make possible the annual pruning of the royal palm at Hialeah Park, where it was first used. A large group of notables participated in the welcoming ceremony
at the station.

There was a stately procession of horse-drawn carriages to Buckingham
Palace.

The King greeted his son's return
by conferring on him the highest rank
in the order of St. Michael and St.
George. A court circular from Buckingham Palace yesterday evening announced the duke had been invested
with the insignia of Knights of the Grand Cross of that order.

BIG WELCOME FOR KING'S SON

London, March 29.—The Duke of Gloucester, third son of the King and Queen, was welcomed by wildly cheering crowds yesterday when he returned home after seven months'
absence which took him to New Zealand and Australia.

The entire Royal Family, with the exception of the Duke and Duchess of Kent, who are in the West Indies, and a large group of notables participated in the welcoming ceremony
at the station.

There was a stately procession of
horse-drawn carriages to Buckingham
Palace.

The King greeted his son's return
by conferring on him the highest rank
in the order of St. Michael and St.
George. A court circular from Buckingham Palace yesterday evening announced the duke had been invested
with the insignia of Knights of the Grand Cross of that order.

URGES NEWSPRINT
CONSOLIDATION

Associated Press
Toronto, March 29.—Consolidation or regrouping of the newspaper industry into three or four strong companies, not to form a monopoly but to retain a stimulus of intelligent competition, was suggested yesterday by Charles Vining, president of the Newspaper Export Manufacturers' Association of Canada, at the "only permanent remedy for the industry's various weaknesses."

Mr. Vining addressed the Empire
Club here on "The Newspaper Riddle."

REPORT ON BONDS
Ottawa, March 29 (Canadian Press).—Federal government bonds, direct and guaranteed, subject to call without notice, total $285,044,755, according to a return tabled by Finance Minister E. H. Rhodes in the House of Commons yesterday.

and guaranteed bonds with call provisions total $1,885,027,368, the return stated. The question was asked by Hon. Ian Macdonald, Liberal, Vancouver Centre.

FRASER BRIDGE PLAN OPPOSED

Vancouver Real Estate Exchange Advises Examination of Old Structure

Vancouver, March 29.—Construction of the proposed bridge across the Fraser River at New Westminster, is strongly opposed in a resolution adopted unanimously yesterday by the Vancouver Real Estate Exchange.
Opinion was expressed that should first be an independent examination of the old structure by competent engineers as it seemed peculiar that heavy trains were passing over the bridge continuously, and yet it suddenly should be pronounced unsafe.

The facts, as placed before the public, it was declared, were insufficient to justify the proposed structure at this time.

NOVA SCOTIA BUDGET PLANS

Halifax, March 29.—Budgeting for a fiscal year of fourteen months, Premier Angus M. Macdonald, of Nova Scotia yesterday announced an estimated deficit of $1,040,522. The deficit would have been $201,000, compared with last year's $1,297,000, he told the Legislature, but not the fiscal year then extended this year from September 30 to November 30.

The Premier's figure was based on an estimated revenue of $10,112,522
and ordinary expenditure of $11,153,044.
The deficit of $1,040,522, including fund payments was added to the revenue deficit of $647,707 for the total deficit.

Premier Macdonald, in bringing down the estimates as Provincial Secretary-Treasurer, laid emphasis on the fact he was budgeting for a fourteen-month period. And he added that if the government had not undertaken the provision of pensions for the aged and free school books, the deficit on a twelve-month basis
would have stood at $21,000.

JOHN STRACHEY DELAYS VOYAGE

Boston, March 29.—Evelyn John St.
Loe Strachey, British lecturer facing deportation for his communist beliefs, wound up his United States lecture tour yesterday evening with a speech in which he described fascism as
"the only serious danger confronting the United States."

He cancelled his passage on the liner Berengaria, which he had planned to take to England to-day.
He said he would await the outcome of charges made against him by immigration officials that he advocated overthrow of government by force.

ALBERTA HOUSE HEARS CHARGES

Edmonton, March 29.—Charges by Omer St. Germain, Liberal, St. Albert, that the Alberta government had bargained with the United States before he crossed the floor from the United Farmers of Alberta side at the 1934
session, offering his son, Gerard, twenty-five, prospective, the civil service, caused a sensation in the Legislature yesterday and brought sweeping denials from Ex-premier J.
E. Brownlee and Premier G. B. Reid.
Hon. J. E. Brownlee, Minister of Health, and O. L. McPherson, former Minister of Public Works, that Mr. St. Germain had endeavored to obtain patronage from the government.

Again Mr. St. Germain stated that because he had crossed the floor to the Liberal side, his son had been made the victim of a political conspiracy and was dismissed from the Lands and Mines Department, where he had been employed for three years.
He is now a student at the University of Alberta.

MINE UNIONS CHARTER LIFTED

Drumheller, Alta., March 29.—Suspension of the charter of District 18 of the United Mine Workers of America, embracing all mine locals in Alberta, was announced yesterday by International President J. L. Lewis, effective April 1.

In a communication to all branches,
he stated he had appointed Earl Lewis and August J. Morrison as international officers in charge of disturbance affairs until the ban is lifted.

Reason for Lewis' move is the time when miners and operators are negotiating a new wage scale agreement, was given as "in the interests of the members."

Union officials have claim the real reason for Lewis' move is the rise of a new rank and file movement within the district. At recent district elections, this movement threatened to oust President Lewis and Secretary-Treasurer Morrison.

Edmonton, March 29.—About 1,200 miners in Edmonton and between 4,000 and 5,000 in the district are affected by the suspension of the U.M.
W.A. charter in Alberta, and the result of this drastic action created great interest among them to-day.

Roumania Owe Canada $24,329,262

Ottawa, March 29.—Roumania owes Canada $24,329,262 and Greece debtor to this country to the amount of $7,735,000, Finance Minister Edgar S. Rhodes yesterday told E. H. Spencer, U.F.A., Battle River, in the House of Commons.

The original loan to Roumania was $25,000,000 and to Greece $7,500,000.
Greece has paid $1,475,000 in interest to date, but Roumania has paid nothing on either principal or interest. The loans were contracted during the Great War.

INCOME TAX TOTALS GIVEN

Canadian Press
Ottawa, March 29.—A total of 220,- 000 individuals and 9,000 corporations paid income tax last year, Finance Minister E. H. Rhodes yesterday told E. H. Spencer, U.F.A., Battle River, in the House of Commons. The largest number of individuals paid the tax on incomes up to $5,000. They totaled 129,529.

Persons paying on incomes from $5,000 up to $20,000 numbered 62,522, from $20,000 up to $50,000, 1,568 and $50,000 and over 27.

Conference On Bills Urged

Senator Dandurand Suggests Provinces Be Consulted on Reforms

Canadian Press
Ottawa, March 29.—Suggestion that the interprovincial conference be resumed within the next thirty days or three months to obtain consent of the provinces to the government's social reform legislation was made in the upper chamber by Senator Beaudrand, Liberal leader, yesterday.

The proposal simply meant a year's delay, Mr. Beaudrand said, government leader in the Senate, replied.
If the provinces agreed to such a conference to the social measures, Senator Dandurand said, returning to the constitutional question, it would satisfy public confidence in the legislation.

The people were pretty well satisfied there was "monkeying with the situation," Senator Beaudrand returned.
The constitutional question had been discussed several times.

The eight-hour day bill was under consideration at the time and debate on motion for second reading will be resumed next Tuesday.

SAYS RIGHTS INVADED

The eight-hour day bill was, he believed, an invasion of the rights of the provinces under the constitution, Senator Dandurand said.

His proposal to have the interprovincial conference meet was an alternative to his previous suggestion for a reference to the courts of the constitutional aspect, he said.

The minimum wage draft convention, Senator Beaudrand said, was for a minimum standard of wages applicable to trades in manufacturing and commerce and was adopted by the International Labor Organization in June, 1928.

NOT BOUND, HE SAYS

Senator Beaudrand hit out at the "unscrupulous" that seemed to have "paralyzed" the minds of some people that delegates to international labor conventions of the League of Nations could bind this Dominion or in any way prejudice the Parliament of Canada.

These delegations, in which employers and workers were represented, were not in a position to arrogate to themselves the right to bind the country without reference to the Canadian Parliament, he said.

Suggestion such delegates themselves could make binding powers on Canada was a "preposterous notion,"
and all such conventions were subject to the approval of Parliament,
he said.

Chief intention of the convention,
Senator Beaudrand stated, was to apply these standards to the sphere in districts where labor was not safeguarded by labor organization.

GOVERNOR CALLS FOR CANCER FUNDS

Canadian Press
Toronto, March 29.—A call for concerted action against cancer was made yesterday evening by Lieutenant-Governor Herbert A. Bruce of Ontario in his first public appeal for support of the King George V Silver Jubilee Cancer Fund. The Lieutenant-Governor spoke briefly between periods of the Boston-Toronto National Hockey League game.

"The terrible annual toll cancer exact in this province must be checked," Dr. Bruce declared.

"The crying need is for more research, more institutions with facilities for the scientist in his great work of investigating the cause of cancer and the discovery of a specific for its cure."

"This research will only be possible if we all help to provide the necessary funds," he concluded.

PROTEST CHOICE OF GOVERNOR

Canadian Press
Toronto, March 29.—Opposing the appointment of John Buchan as Governor-General of Canada on the grounds a Canadian should be chosen for the office, George J.
Smith, president of the Native Sons of Canada, has telegraphed Sir George Perley, Acting Prime Minister of Canada, protesting the appointment.

4 for the King's Jubilee celebration.

VALERA NOT TO ATTEND JUBILEE

Dublin, March 29.—President
Seamus de Valera of the Irish Free State will not be among the Empire leaders attending the Royal Jubilee celebrations in London in May.

Mr. de Valera yesterday informed the Daily Mail he had been invited, but had refused. Prime Minister Ramsay Macdonald's attendance was "not possible in the existing circumstances."

John Dulaney, the Free State's High Commissioner in London, will be present on behalf of the Irish Free state.

The governor-generalship in the Free State has for all practical purposes been abolished since the Valera government came to power, its own appointee, Daniel Bannatyne, performing few of the functions cus-tomarily fulfilled by the office.

"Prince Romanoff" To Leave New York

New York, March 29.—Tired of New York, its glitter and numerous courts, "Prince Michael Romanoff," is going back to the good, simple life of the middle west.

"I'm going to quit New York—
leave it flat on its back—and move to the middle west, where I'll lose my identity," announced the "prince" to a gaping audience in travels court.

As Harry Gerguson, the counterfeit prince used to press pants for a living back in Milwaukee, Ill., Gerguson was arranged on a charge of disturbing the peace.

Firmer Gums, more Brilliant Teeth with GUM MASSAGE

Ipasa Tooth Paste and message help keep gums firm against "pink tooth brush"

WITH gum disorders so prevalent today, you should message the gums when brushing the teeth if you want brilliant, good-looking teeth.

The soft, creamy foods we eat
rob our gums of needed exercise,
our gums get weak, tender, touchy. They have a ting-of "pink" on the tooth brush.

"Pink tooth brush" may lead to serious trouble such as gingivitis, Vincent's disease, or even pyorrhea.

"Keep your gums hard—avoid
"pink tooth brush" with daily massage," is the advice of dental science.

Each time you brush your teeth with Ipasa, massage a little extra Ipasa into the gums. Ipasa massage tones the gums, eliminates them. A few weeks and your gums should be hard again—your teeth more brilliant when you smile.

AID SOCIETY
LEADERS MEET

Directors Report on Child Welfare Work

Reports of committees read at the monthly meeting of the board of directors of the Children's Aid Society showed that at the end of February forty-two children "in care," twenty-three being wards and nine non-wards. In addition there were fifty-seven children under supervision in their own homes.

The total expenditure for the month was $22,115, sixteen new members were added to the list, making a total of 178 members of the society in good standing.

The president reported that he was taking part in many conferences and discussions as representative of the society, which had now become an active unit in Provincial Child Welfare work. The report of the provincial committee was read and in this connection, he explained the importance of the Child Guidance Clinic recently established in Victoria by the government and conducted by the provincial psychiatrist. Cases of neglect, of incorrigibility, or of delinquency, have been dealt with only from the legal point of view. That is to say, proof of the fact has been all that was required in order to determine the action to be taken. Now, whenever possible, the cause behind the fact is searched for, so that efforts may be made to adjust the bad influences, instead of just dealing with their results.

FREAK HAND IS
STRANGELY BIDP. Hal Sims Raises Wife's
One Club to Seven; Culbertson Incensed

Associated Press

New York, March 29.—One freak hand and the simple but astounding feat of raising a wife's one club to seven, culminated in a bridge game which was the subject of much controversy today at the Culbertson-Sims bridge marathon of 150 rubbers swung into its eighth session and twenty-ninth rubber with Sir and Josephine Culbertson 2,350 points ahead.

"One club," said Dorothy Sims, with the jack the only club in her hand, Mrs. Sims is noted for her psychology.

"Pam," was all Culbertson had to say. "Seven clubs," said Sims, slowly but without hesitation.

Culbertson, started, glanced at his bulky opponent.

Mrs. Culbertson, smiling slightly, looked at her opponent.

Mrs. Sims did, too. She was tense and apparently dismayed.

"By the way, Hal," queried Culbertson, arching his eyebrows, "in this contract bridge we are playing?"

Sims thought a moment and chuckled. He shifted heavily in his chair.

"I was under the impression it might be pinochle," he answered.

Mrs. Sims moved nervously, as Culbertson opened with the club deuce.

He flipped eight clubs onto the table, including the ace, king and queen.

Mrs. Sims captured the trick with her lone jack.

She went ahead to play the hand neatly, avoiding a heart finesse which she could not afford to take, although it would have succeeded.

She returned a small diamond, trumped in dummy, which was blank in diamonds and then dropped the remaining trump, dropping a small heart on the second trump lead.

Two more rounds of diamonds picked up Culbertson's queen, making her jack good.

"I still don't believe there is such a bid in any system," he said. "Even the Sims system. One club—seven clubs, huh?"

Sims nodded agreement.

"I agree heartily with you, Mr.," he said.

The Culbertsons have won fifteen of the twenty-eight rubbers played.

Buck Tells Own Story Of Kingston Shooting

Communist Leader Greeted By One Thousand Here; Relates Experiences While in Penitentiary and Shows Remnants of Bullets Taken From His Cell

Communist sympathizers of Victoria and hundreds of interested listeners, totaling nearly 1,000, who jammed the Chamber of Commerce Auditorium to overflowing yesterday evening, heard for the first time Tim Buck's own story of the shooting in Kingston Penitentiary in October, 1933, when, the Communist leader alleged, he was deliberately shot at by five guards as he stood protesting himself behind a nine-inch wall in his cell. The revolutionary leader, who made it plain in his address that his party aimed for a Soviet Canada, was given a tremendous welcome, and cheer greeted him as he took his place on the platform.

His story of the famous Kingston shooting was told after he had delivered a two-hour address. "It was on October 20, 1933, while I was the guest of King George and R. B. Bennett in the Kingston Penitentiary," he started.

The disturbance in the prison, he continued, had started when "a bunch of the boys" started protesting by means of rattling their tin mugs on the bars of their cells, against the "padding" of some of the men who were alleged to have taken part in previous disturbances. He explained the men in the north cell block, apart from his own, had thought the others were going to be "padded," although it later turned out this was not the case.

EXPLAINS "PADDING"
For the information of his audience he described what constituted a "padding." It was carried out with a leather strip eighteen inches long, with diamond-shaped holes cut in it, attached to an eighteen-inch handle, he said. The strip was soaked in water overnight and when the men to be padded were brought forward he was stripped and bent over a machine, and struck.

The holes in the "padding," he said, absorbed the flesh of the body as the blow was struck, and as it was pulled away, the flesh came with it.

Consisting with his description of the shooting, Mr. Buck said he had realized that the disturbance which the other men were creating might lead to trouble, and he had shouted to the men in his cell block to keep quiet. He and others had managed to persuade them to do this, and he was just stepping down, proprietary to getting into his bed when he felt a slip on the top of his head, which felt as though his hair was being pulled.

Simultaneously he heard a crash in his cell wall, and he immediately straightened himself back against a nine-inch thick wall in his cell. One of the other men in his block had called out that "they were shooting blanks and trying to scare us."

Mr. Buck said he immediately shouted back that this was not blanks.

GIVEN WARNING
Following this he heard his Communist companion, Tom Even, who was imprisoned at the same time as Buck, shout to him that five men had their guns trained on his (Buck's) cell, and to watch out.

Mr. Buck said he had realized that with the light in his cell the door of the cell formed a target for the guards to shoot at, and he had decided the best thing to do was try and put the light out. It was necessary, he said, to run across the front of his cell to reach the light and try and break the filament by jarring the iron guard around the light.

As he leaped across his cell towards the light he heard a fusillade of five shots, and fragments fell all around and over him. He succeeded in putting the light out, but commenced examination of himself to see if he had been hit.

He said one of the shots had struck a bar across his cell door, and as it did so it made a loud report. This had brought forth a shriek from one of the other inmates and the guards

BUCK QUASHES POPULAR VIEW

Tim Buck, Communist Leader, Different From Common Idea of Agitator

The popular conception of a wild-eyed, frenzied agitator, putting over his arguments in an extemporaneous speech, failed to find its counterpart in Tim Buck, the Communist leader, as he spoke at the Chamber of Commerce yesterday evening.

Mr. Buck, who told reporters after the meeting that he will be a candidate in North Winnipeg in the forthcoming federal election, would be taken for an average business or professional man if he were first met in company in the ordinary way.

He is about five feet seven inches tall, clean shaven, has fair hair, is partly bald and dressed neatly. On the platform, the Communist leader seemed to be a man of great oratory to stir his audience to a state of enthusiasm or excitement. He gave the impression, however, that he was a man of sincerity and purpose, and convinced that the cause he is fighting for is just. Those in the audience who failed to agree with Buck's arguments were prepared to admit that Buck, himself, was presenting them sincerely, based on his own convictions that he was right.

He spoke quietly but purposefully, and held the undivided attention of his audience for two hours.

Apparently had thought it was him. Mr. Buck said. This information, he continued, had been given to him by one of the guards afterwards.

The day after the shooting the Kingston standard had come out with a big front-page story of how he (Buck) had been loose in the penitentiary with several other prisoners, and how the value of the work of the guards had prevented them from breaking prison. In the meantime no one came to his cell.

SURPRISED TO SEE HIM
On the second day after the disturbance, however, not one, but five officers came up and Mr. Buck described them as having a look of astonishment on their faces when they saw him. They asked him if he was alright and had appeared surprised when he assured he was. He had demanded an investigation but had not been successful in having it made.

The speaker also charged that Prime Minister Bennett and Hon. Hugh Outrill, Minister of Justice, had both visited the cell since the incident and had seen how the men were being treated with rifle marks, and he said, "they know that those shots were not fired into my cell to intimidate me, as they claim, but were an investigation made later. Incidentally, one of the inspectors who made the investigation had remarked to him after that he was lucky to have escaped with the cell alive."

After the meeting he showed some of the remnants of the alleged bullets which he stated he succeeded in having removed from the penitentiary and given to him when he was released.

PARTY HAS GROWN

"I represent something that has developed in the last three years, working class unity and working class action," Mr. Buck said. "Our trial started 100,000 workers thinking 'what is the Communist Party?' and 'what does it stand for? Why are these men jailed for it?'"

He referred to the demonstration which had greeted his arrival in various points as being an indication that "B. B. Bennett is defenceless and the working men are no longer held in the hands of the capitalist class."

The hardest struggle of the working class was still in front, he said. It was significant that he and his comrades were released during the trial period that the present policy and propaganda of the capitalist class started to change.

He had been released on August 28, and on August 29 the mine workers were sent to prison for two years for unlawful assembly.

As a striking example of the relationship between the working and capitalist classes he told the meeting of an incident dealing with a mine worker he knew who was employed at the Noranda mine. This miner, he said, had worked hard on the mine when it was a prospect several years ago, and when he had gone on strike with 1,500 other men at the mine, he had been left with a family and nothing to keep them, while the mine had been developed to such an extent that it had been possible to erect factories and refineries.

"What happened in the Noranda strike is a perfect example of that side of the Bennett and all provincial governments," he said.

At the time of the strike, "scabs" were brought in by the capitalist and organized by R.C.M.P. to go down into the mines. "And they were in uniform, too, and the contemptible rate like those sitting in this audience to-night," he said amid cheers.

"Never before were the big corporations so willing to pay money to prevent the organization of unions," he said.

FEAR DEVELOPMENT
"We were let out of jail because of the fear of the growth of the working class organization in Canada to-day," he continued.

R. B. Bennett is the outstanding representative of the reaction of the capitalist class, he said. Bennett, he said, did not give a fig what the small interests wanted, and said the big interests what they wanted.

Since the release of him and his comrades, "Bennett and Outrill have said the Communist party is still illegal, but as long as the working class wants to hear and wants to know we can defy them and their motion so won't be worth the paper it's printed on," he said.

"The working class to-day is an immense force in Canadian politics," said Mr. Buck.

The world economic conference was the final test and proof that capitalism as it had long in 1914, was gone. On every question the capital-one was called to decide upon it was a failure, he said.

When Bennett had returned from the conference and made a western tour, there had been no evidence of his policy for social reform, which he was now presenting to the country.

As early as April, 1933, he had been offered an opportunity to go out and work on parole. Mr. Buck said. He had, however, secured the wisdom that the Communist party would be three times as large when he got out.

Immediately after his release, Prime Minister Bennett had said in a speech, "We must eradicate the evils of capitalism."

"After I had read his first radio speech I almost went to him and invited him to join the Communist Party," he said amid laughter.

SIMILAR POLICIES
Mr. Buck paralleled the Bennett policy with those of Mussolini, Hitler and Meley. They proposed establishment of the corporate state which would abolish all working class organizations. It was a question of the development of the capitalist class needs.

From now on until the end of capitalism nothing but a great war and mass unemployment," the speaker said.

"Capitalism is gone but capitalists are still in the middle and they are striving to retain that precious privilege of taking profit."

"Whether it is called Fascism, Nationalism, or a New Deal, we should ask 'is it in our interests? If it is in the interests of the working class, why are they giving it to us? Let us understand for instance, what is meant by the minimum wage law. A minimum wage ultimately becomes a maximum wage," he said.

He charged that the Prime Minister was endeavoring to repurchase the support of manufacturers which he had lost in the provincial elections. From wage statistics he had learned that wages in 1933 were $910,000,000 less than in 1932. "This should convince us that Bennett's attitude is not to raise wages," he said, "for the lower they force the standard of the wages of the unemployed, the lower they are forcing the wages of every working man."

WAGES SLIDING
Wages in Canada to-day were 37 per cent lower than in 1930 because the labor market was glutted, he said.

"In every province they are supplementing the policy which Bennett and King have agreed upon to maintain the profit system," he said after a scathing criticism of the R.F.A. and other provincial legislatures which permitted the establishing of wage laws which increased living standards and lowered subsistence level.

Canadian industry to-day is down to bedrock in regard to the number of men employed, he said.

"The crisis we are in to-day is a continuation of the crisis we had in 1914," he said, describing the prosperity of 1920 as an artificial boom. The 1928 stock crash did not cause the crisis, he said, viewing it as the result of the failure to stabilize Europe.

Unemployment to-day was due to the reduction of the number of men to produce a certain quantity of goods brought about by rationalization and speed-up. To complicate this he showed that the same number of men was required to operate Canadian railways in 1933 as in 1928, but in that time there were 20,000 more miles of railways and travel had increased by 60 per cent.

"It is necessary for the working class to face the fact that it is because of the growing strength of the working class to-day, that capitalists are realizing the necessity of devising ways and means of preserving their system," he said.

Mr. Buck described as ridiculous the belief of a few years ago that every Communist was a Russian or a foreigner, and drew attention to the fact that the working class revolution had started with the Chartists movement in England.

DESCRIBES WELCOME.
Mr. Buck was introduced by William Bennett, another militant Communist, traveling with him who was enthusiastic over the attendance at the meeting. "Some one must have been around Victoria with a bell this morning, because from my experience it would take about six meetings to bring this many people out," he commented.

He described the reception which Mr. Buck had received from 10,000 workers in Vancouver. He paralleled this with the reported gathering of forty persons who awaited the arrival of the Governor-General in the main hall of the legislature.

"The working class doesn't care whether he goes to Vancouver, the Arctic Circle, or the other place," Mr. Bennett said, "that's what the worker thinks of the Governor-General and all that he represents."

All seats in the auditorium were taken shortly after 7:30 o'clock, and those arriving after that were forced to stand for the evening. The platform was profusely decorated in red, with the words "Welcome to Tim Buck" on a banner across the front. The table and chairs were decorated with red tissue paper and the footlights were a mass of red flowers.

The meeting was preceded by a largely-attended banquet at which William B. White presided. The speaker was given a rousing welcome from eleven representatives of movements sympathetic to the Communist Party, all of whom extended greetings from their respective groups.

Those who spoke were: P. Goodman, Community Party; F. D. Wilson, Spanish Relief Workers' Union; T. Beaumont, B. C. Committee of Joint Organization of Unemployed; L. Tonn, Canadian Labor Defence League; W. Hodge and I. Boden, Young Communist Party; Mrs. Beaumont, Victoria Women; Mrs. Hodge, League Against War and Fascism; George Seymour, R.C.W.U.; S. C. May, Chinese Branch of C.I.O.; S. Wilson, Spanish Boy Worker Agent, and Leonard Clark, Seamen's Industrial Union.

Mr. Buck replied to the greetings, expressing gratification at the response and sympathy from so many organizations to the revolutionary movement which he represented.

"Hammered with Pain"

Are YOU worn out with pain—nervous, irritable, depressed all day—sleepless at night? Then read Mr. Weston's letter and think what a few drops of Phosferine a day may do for you.

"I was distracted and hammered with unceasing pain of Neuralgia in my face, causing me to be very restless, sleepless, and 'fed-up,' until I was advised to try Phosferine daily, and within a short time after taking it, I felt my nerves wonderfully benefited. I feel a new man and owe it to Phosferine that I hold out and resist Grippe successfully, and withstand the usual winter chills, Rheumatism, and Sciatica, etc. I had been suffering from Grippe and nerve exhaustion, and I feel that without the help of Phosferine my nerves would not have stood the strain. I strongly recommend Phosferine, and I consider it a wonderful product for quickly overcoming weakness and collapse."

DECIDE DEATH WAS ACCIDENT

Coroner's Jury Hears of Crash Which Resulted in Death of A. L. Christenson

Alfred L. Christenson, 1521 Cameron street, died from injuries sustained in a crash which occurred when his car was struck by a part of the westbound C.N.R. train at Dunsmuir crossing, on the Sooke Highway, on Tuesday, according to the verdict of a coroner's jury, which investigated circumstances surrounding his death yesterday.

Harry Page, 1238 Milton street, and Captain M. Nicholson, of Sooke, passengers in the car, stated Mr. Christenson did not see the train until within a short distance of it. He applied the brakes and swung his machine around. It stopped parallel with the tracks and was struck by a step on the left front side of the engine, he said.

Engineer S. A. Allison, 908 Graham street, testified he gave the usual four blasts at the crossing and started the train bell ringing. He was seated on the right hand side of the engine cab, and was unaware of the crash until told about it by S. W. Foreman, the fireman, who corroborated the engineer's testimony.

The jury also heard John A. Cameron, 509 Selkirk avenue, conductor of the train, and Constable A. O. Carmichael, of the provincial police, and Dr. E. W. Cook.

MEETING MEN TO MEET

Montreal, March 29 (Canadian Press)—A statutory meeting of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy will be held here April 2 to conduct election of officers and other institute business. A. O. Blaylock of Trail, B.C., the retiring president, will be the guest.

Col. Lorne Ross, president of the Campaigners' Association, felt that it was a fitting time to forward a telegram of congratulation and devotion to His Majesty through the Governor-General, the Earl of Beaulieu. His idea was unanimously approved, and a telegram was sent which read as follows:

"Veterans of the 1885 Northwest Rebellion and members of the British Campaigners' Association, gathered at Victoria, B.C., to commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of the campaign and your Majesty's assurance of continued loyalty and devotion and congratulation on your silver anniversary."

The banquet was attended by some sixty old soldiers who had served in the Canadian War and the Great War, and I am willing to bet that if Hitler does not believe himself you will be there to put him in his place," he declared.

Col. Ross went on to welcome the honored guests. Sir Percy Lake and King George has sent $500, his second donation, to the Impetuous Fund, organized to preserve as a national monument the only Trafalgar battle site.

Col. J. S. Dennis, leader of the Dennis Scouts who fought on the unbroken prairie against Louis Riel and his half-breeds, brought back the memory of those stirring times half a century ago when the young Dominion was almost torn asunder by a rebellion, at the banquet of the British Campaigners' Association held in Spencer's dining-room yesterday evening.

He recollected how his father, in 1880, traveled to Fort Garry to make a survey of the north west when the province of Manitoba was acquired from the Hudson's Bay Company. There was living there at well known in Ontario. This outrage brought forth the Wolsey expedition.

Wolsey made an extraordinary campaign, traveling over the Great Lakes by canoe and marching over the west bush land, but when he reached Fort Garry he found that Riel and his men had fled to the United States.

However, while in exile the rebel chief was elected to parliament for St. Boniface and actually signed the registry at Ottawa without being captured. Riel and his half-breed followers lived on the Sun River in Montana while in the republic and at a place called Fort Benton. Col. Dennis met the rebel and had a long talk with him.

In 1881 the rebels were granted amnesty and they returned to live in Manitoba. But Riel again incited them to revolt, and after a sanguine encounter they beat a detachment of mounted police and captured Duck Lake, a small trading post.

An expedition of three columns was then equipped and sent out to the north west. Col. Dennis recounted they fought and beat the half breeds at Batoche, where they captured Riel. However, many Indian tribes including those headed by Big Bear, Red Fox, and other famous chiefs had joined the rebels and an engagement had to be fought at Cut Knife Creek before they were finally quelled.

Riel, Col. Dennis felt, would never have been executed if he had not been captured to set out his compatriots. This evidence was brought out at the trial and turned the judge's verdict.

WILL PERFORM HERE ALL NEXT WEEK.

The Riel Veterans, shown above, under Frank C. Anderson, advertising of Home Gas Interlocking Ltd., and Calvin Winter, leader, will make a reappearance in Victoria next week. They will present an entirely new show and will open in the City Temple at 8.30 o'clock Monday evening. Performances will be given at the same hour each evening during the week with a matinee on Saturday afternoon.

Canadian Net Team Selected

Caroline Deacon and Eleanor Young, Vancouver, Will Go to Old Country

Ottawa, March 29.—Announcement of the Canadian tennis team which will play in England and Scotland this summer was made today by Philip D. Lyons, president of the Canadian Lawn Tennis Association. The team will consist of Robert Murray and Laird Watt, Montreal, and Miss Caroline Deacon and Miss Eleanor Young, Vancouver.

They will leave Canada May 21, reaching London, June 10. After two weeks' practice and acclimatization, the Canadians will enter the Wimbledon tournament, lasting from June 24 to July 8. After this they will enter two English tournaments, and from July 29 to 31 they will compete in the Scottish championships.

On July 29 to 30, the Canadians will meet a team representing the east of Scotland at Edinburgh and a team from the west of Scotland on August 1 at Glasgow. The team will arrive back in Canada August 14.

This was the first time, Lyons explains, a Canadian lawn tennis team will play in Scotland. It was a coincidence the visit would follow the appointment of a Scottish Governor-General for Canada, and he hoped John Buchan would be able to attend some of the games.
